四．阅读理解（共 20 小题，每小题 2 分，共 40 分）

(A)

You speak, write a letter, make a telephone. Your words carry a message. People communicate with words. Do you think you can communicate without words? A smile on your face shows you are happy or friendly. Tears in your eyes tell others that you are sad. When you put up your hands in class, the teacher knows you want to say something or ask questions. You shake your head and people know you are saying "No".You nod and people know you are saying "Yes".

Other things can also carry messages. For example, a sign at the bus helps you to know which bus to take. A sign on the door helps you to know where to go in or out.

Have you ever thought that there are a lot of signs around you and that you receive messages from them all the time?

People can communicate in many other ways. An artist can use his drawing to tell beautiful mountains, about the blue sea and many other things. Books are written to tell about all the wonderful things in the world and also about people and their ideas.

Books, magazines, TV radio and films all help us communicate with others. They can help us to know what is going on in the world and what other people are thinking about.

(B)

There are many ways to find a job, It can be as easy as walking into a neighborhood store to look at its announcement board. Local stores often have areas where people can put small signs telling what kind of service they need or can provide. Such services include caring for children or cleaning houses.

Or, job searchers can look in the newspaper. Local newspapers have employment announcements placed by companies seeking workers.

Another popular tool for finding jobs is the Internet. For example, people in four hundred and fifty cities around the world can use the Craigslist web site to buy objects, meet people or find a job. Craigslist says that it receives two million new job listings each month.

Another useful way to find a job is through a college or university. For example, students at the University of Texas in Austin can go to the Career Exploration Center to get help in finding a job. Of course, looking for a job requires knowing what kind of work you want to do. For example, there is a book called" What Color is Your Parachute?" by Richard Bolles. This book has been helping people choose a career(职业) since it was first published in nineteen seventy.

Some experts also help people find jobs. Susan W. Miller owns a company called California Career Services in Los Angeles, She says her company helps people find jobs by first helping them understand their strengths, goals md interests. Then she provides them with methods and resources to help them find the right job.
